

Coveros Named a Finalist for Hottest Bootstrap Company by NVTC

Company Recognized as One of Northern Virginia's Emerging Stars

Herndon, Va., June 26, 2009 — Coveros, Inc., a company that helps organizations accelerate the delivery of secure and reliable software, today announced it has been selected as a finalist in the Hottest Bootstrap category of the Northern Virginia Technology Council (NVTC) Hot Ticket Awards.

The Hot Ticket Awards are given annually by the Northern Virginia Technology Council (NVTC) to recognize those entrepreneurs and emerging companies who make Northern Virginia “hot” in emerging high tech industries.

“We are excited to be recognized by NVTC as one of the region’s Hottest companies, particularly given that we have only recently completed our first year of operation”, says Jeffery Payne, Coveros’ Chief Executive Officer. “I believe we were selected due to the incredible growth we have exhibited during the last year and the exception customer list we have secured since our inception.”
